ABOUT this GUIDEBOOK & Your Trip

If you're looking for information on the history of the Okefenokee, or a deep dive into the regional flora and fauna, look elsewhere. Let's face it, while that type of information has its place, when you're on the water in a strange, far-from-home wilderness, you want to know where to paddle, how long it should take, what to expect along the way, and where to pitch your tent or hammock for the night. This is what you'll get with this book. What follows is intentionally concise, written by an experienced paddle-camper for other paddle-campers.

Although you don't have to be an expert, tenured paddle-camper to venture into the Okefenokee, it should not be your first trip of this type, and you must do your homework. A backcountry wilderness trip requires study and preparation, reading guidebooks, pouring over maps, talking to Refuge staff, watching videos and checking weather reports. Bottom line - be prepared. Be overprepared. You should always assume you're not going to have cell phone service, and no one is coming to save you - at least not right away!

SAFETY CONCERNS in the Okefenokee

Primary safety concerns are the same as any other type of outdoor activity:

- Bring more drinking and cooking water than you think you'll need. Due to heavy sediments and high tannic acid, filtering/purifying Okefenokee swamp water is not recommended.
- Have ample protection from sun exposure - sunblock, long sleeve shirt, long pants and wide brim hat.
- Biting insects can be formidable, even in cooler months.
- Share your put-in/take-out location, paddling route, launch and return times with family and friends.
- It's always a good idea to bring a buddy along with you. Share your awesome Okefenokee experience with someone else.
- Do your homework on the route, conditions and where you're camping. Know how to use and practice with your gear.
- Be prepared for long, arduous days of paddling and sitting in your kayak/canoe. Once you get on the water, there are not many places to get out, stretch your legs or use the bathroom.

INTRODUCTION

Alligators

Without fail, alligators are the number one concern asked about when discussing Okefenokee with newcomers. Let's get one thing out of the way: you will see alligators. There are lots of them. However, after thousands of miles paddled in the deep Southeast and the Okefenokee, I can assure you that alligators are not a concern.

Here's the best advice I can give you: just don't make a big deal about alligators. They don't want anything to do with you. Use common sense. Treat alligators with the upmost respect. Never feed an alligator, or any wildlife! Never approach them on purpose, and just paddle on by, giving them the widest berth possible. You will be fine.

PFD's or "Life Jackets," and Whistles

Georgia law states each person must have a Personal Flotation Device (PFD or "life jacket") in the kayak or canoe. Children under 13 are required to wear their PFD when in a kayak or canoe. It's recommended that everyone always wears a PFD when paddling. In addition, it's recommended that each person have an emergency whistle attached to their PFD.

Water Levels & Currents

Rising water levels and extreme low waters can be a concern for some Okefenokee trails; low waters - especially on the east/northeast side of the Refuge in colder months. The Refuge authorities will close waterways at times and/or advise about water level concerns. Be sure to ask about this when making camping reservations and call a few days before your trip to check water levels.

The water is moving and there are slight currents in the Okefenokee. Although it is not usually too much of an issue, depending on water levels and recent storms, currents can be challenging on some narrow trails. Know your paddling limits and study the trail descriptions on pages 21 - 41.

CAMPING PERMITS

There are ten backcountry, waterway-camping locations in the Okefenokee. Seven of these are on platforms built over the water and two are on islands / land. Camping permits can be made for anywhere from one to four nights. One- and two-night permits are only available during peak season, which is March 1 - April 30.

To Make a RESERVATION: Call 912-496-3331 between 7 a.m. and 10 a.m., Tuesday through Thursday EST, excluding federal holidays. Reservations can be made 2 months in advance and can only be made by phone. Fees are charged for camping.

Before calling for a camping permit, you must set up a profile in Recreation.gov. Only one party is allowed to camp at a site for a night, and permits are limited to 20 people. Only canoes and/or kayaks are authorized on overnight wilderness camping trips; no motors of any type are allowed. Pets and swimming are prohibited. Leave no trace; pack it in, pack it out.

Open fires are permitted only at Canal Run, Mixons Hammock and Floyds Island. Fire rings are provided at these sites.

Camping rules and permit fees are subject to change. Review camping information on this webpage before you call the Refuge:

Paddling Trails (alphabetical order)

Okefenokee NWR

www.PaddleOkefenokee.com

The eight wilderness paddling trails are color-coded. Numbered mile markers are on each trail and there are posts painted white on top to serve as trail markers. At trail intersections, there's good signage pointing to other trails, campsites and points of interest. In general, the paddling trails are easy to follow. GPS coordinates are provided for all trail intersections.

Blue Trail

Paddled this Trail      Date: _____

On the shaded part of the Blue Trail, north of the Suwannee Canal.

General Location	East-central part of Refuge, skirts the edges of the Chase Prairie. Runs south - north direction.
Connects	Orange Trail with Purple Trail and Green Trail.
Length	2.6 miles.
Difficulty	Easy.
Features	Prairies, grasslands, trees on west side, great place to see alligators and large wading birds.
Shelters	No shelters on the Blue Trail, however, nearby are Canal Run, Round Top and Floyds Island campsites.
Current	Negligible. Closer to the Orange Trail, there can be a slight current south.
Precautions	You're exposed to the elements after approximately three-quarters of a mile north of the Suwannee Canal.

Green Trail

Paddled this Trail      Date: _____

Pushing through winter low water levels of the Green Trail, east of Floyds Island.

General Location	Northeast to the middle part of Refuge.
Connects	Red Trail EAST / Kingfisher Landing to Bluff Lake camping, to east of Floyds Island, then a 0.25 mile portage across Floyds Island, then west of Floyds Island to the Red Trail WEST.
Length	Nearly 20 miles.
Difficulty	Moderate to difficult, due to remoteness, length and often lower water levels in winter.
Features	Prairies, grasslands, few trees east of Floyds Island, dense tree/swamp-like cover west of Floyds Island.
Shelters	Bluff Lake camping platform, Floyds Island.
Current	Generally flows southwest.
Precautions	You're exposed to the elements for most of the paddle from Bluff Lake to Floyds Island.

Orange Trail

Paddled this Trail      Date: _____

Paddling the beautiful Orange Trail, a couple of miles beyond the SCRA.

General Location	It's the long trail that cuts across the Refuge in east ↔ west direction. Includes the Suwannee Canal.
Connects	Suwannee Canal Recreation Area to nearly Stephen C. Foster State Park. Connects to the Yellow, Pink, Blue, Purple, and Red trails.
Length	16 miles.
Difficulty	Moderate to Canal Run, due to distance. Moderate to difficult from Canal Run to Billys Lake, due to tight paddling and strong currents.
Features	11 miles of canal, then narrow twists/turns from Canal Run to Billys Island. Lots of tall, eerie, picturesque trees with Spanish moss.
Shelters	6 miles from the SCRA is Coffee Bay camp. Canal Run camp platform is 10 miles from SCRA. You can get out at Billys Island to stretch your legs and have lunch.

- Current Gently flows west towards Stephen C. Foster State Park.
- Precautions During times of low water levels, the narrow twists/turns between Canal Run and Billys Island can be difficult.

- GPS-1: Yellow Trail intersection (turn for Cedar Hammock camp)

Red Trail

Paddled this Trail      Date: _____

On the Red Trail between Minnies Lake and Big Water.

General Location	Covers the remote north part of the Refuge, Suwannee River watershed, heads southwest to west-central part of the Refuge.
Connects	Begins at Kingfisher Landing, ends at Billys Lake and access to Stephen C. Foster State Park.
Length	30+ miles.
Difficulty	Very strenuous. Long days of paddling on this trail.
Features	Just about every type of feature in the Refuge; prairies, grasslands, wide river basin, narrow twisties, gorgeous cypress trees. You'll experience it all on this trail!
Shelters	Maul Hammock, Big Water, Minnies Lake day-use shelter.

- Current Generally flows south, in the direction of the Suwannee River.
- Precautions For experienced paddlers and campers only. Paddling the entire Red Trail requires a minimum of 2 nights / 3 long days. Route: Stephen C. Foster State Park, to Big Water, to Maul Hammock, to Kingfisher Landing.
- Go Big ! Try the ultimate Okefenokee, expedition-level, winter 4 night loop beginning and ending at Kingfisher Landing, by adding the Green Trail. Route: Kingfisher, to Maul Hammock, to Big Water, to Floyds Island, portage across Floyds Island, then on to Bluff Lake, back to Kingfisher. (Note: not allowed during peak season of March 1 - April 30.)

Interesting cypress "knee" on the Red Trail, paddling north towards Minnies Lake.

Notes

Camp in the cabin - a unique & enjoyable experience. Crossing the island requires 1,300 ft. / 0.25 mile portage; a portage cart is provided. The portage is not difficult. Has a fire ring for campfires. Note: Vault/pit toilet is on the east side of island near water access.

Using the provided portage cart. It's a 1,300 ft. / 0.25 mile portage across the island.

Raised vault/pit toilet is on the east side of the island near water access.

Maul Hammock Camping

Camped Here      Date: _____

Maul Hammock is the most remote campsite in Okefenokee.

General Location      North, remote part of the Refuge. See maps on pages 13, 38. Paddling route on page 20.

Trail      Red Trail.

GPS Coordinates for Campsite      31°00'58.4"N, 82°15'23.8"W or 31.016233, -82.256600

Type of Camping      Wood platform over water. No dry land.

Mileage to Other Points of Interest      Kingfisher Landing - 12 miles
Big Water - 9 miles

Camp-to-camp
directions
on p. 90

For strong paddlers only. The paddle from Kingfisher to Maul Hammock can be a challenge. It's nearly all open prairie and grasslands. This can make the 12-mile haul seem much longer than it already is. There are no rest stops or places to get out and stretch your legs. At night, to the north, you'll see some faint Waycross, GA lights. The campsite has a vault/pit toilet.

Notes

It's a long paddle to Maul Hammock. 12 miles from Kingfisher; 9 miles from Big Water.

Maul Hammock sits in a beautiful lake. Sunset in winter.

Mixons Hammock Camping

Camped Here      Date: _____

This is one of only two land-based campsites in Okefenokee (the other is Floyds Island).

General Location      Furthest west campsite in the Refuge. Only 2 miles from Stephen C. Foster SP. See maps on pages 12, 25. Paddling route on page 19.

Trail      Brown Trail.

GPS Coordinates for Campsite      30°49'26.7"N, 82°22'53.3"W or 30.824083, -82.381467

Type of Camping      On island / land. Old railroad bed area.

Mileage to Other Points of Interest      Stephen C. Foster State Park - 2 miles
Big Water - 13 miles

Canal Run - 9 miles
Floyds Island - 11 miles
Billys Island access - 3.2 miles

Camp-to-camp
directions
on p. 91

Notes

There is a lot of room to spread out at Mixons Hammock. Plenty of options for hammock campers. Insects can be a nuisance here in all but the coldest months; bring lots of repellent. Has a fire ring for campfires. Has vault/pit toilet.

Campsite landing (at lower water) and the vault/pit toilet at Mixons Hammock.

There are bear warnings at Mixons Hammock. Take this seriously!

Monkey Lake Camping

Camped Here      Date: _____

Camping platform at Monkey Lake. The platform is set back 120 ft. from the water.

General Location      Furthest south campsite; east side of Refuge.
Maps on pages 13, 33. Paddle route on p. 19.

Trail      Pink Trail.

GPS Coordinates for Campsite      30°40'28.9"N, 82°12'21.6"W or 30.674692, -82.206006

Type of Camping      Wood platform on land. The land around the platform is mostly "boggy." There's nowhere to explore or walk around beyond the platform.

Mileage to Other Points of Interest      Suwannee Canal Recreation Area - 8 miles
Cedar Hammock - 7 miles
Canal Run - 13 miles
Round Top - 15 miles
Coffee Bay - 9 miles

Camp-to-camp
directions
on p. 85

Notes      Vault/pit toilet is located at water's edge, then it's a 120-ft. boardwalk to the camping area; sits back in the woods. From experience, the animal noises at night here can be loud, extraordinary!

Vault/pit toilet at Monkey Lake. The camping platform is 120 ft. away from this area.

Round Top Camping

Round Top platform offers impressive 360-degree views of the surrounding prairie.

Canal Run - 5 miles
Orange / Red Trail intersection - 0.6 miles west
- Notes      Lots of room to stretch your legs here. Billys Island has walking trails, interpretative signage, and remnants from Okefenokee's logging history in the early 20th century. You can land your kayak/canoe on the island, or there's a dock/boardwalk for high water times. This is a favorite day-paddling destination and a great place to have lunch.
